

Saplings and Sisters: The Remarkable Story of Ethen Beavers, the Boy Who Sold Trees to Fund a Children's Hospital

Ethen Beavers was just 10 years old when he came up with an idea that would change the lives of countless children.

It all started when Ethen's sister, Abbey, was diagnosed with a rare form of leukemia. Abbey spent months in the hospital, undergoing chemotherapy and radiation treatments.

Ethen was heartbroken to see his sister suffering. He wanted to do something to help, but he didn't know what.

One day, Ethen was playing in the woods behind his house when he came across a group of saplings. He picked up a few of the saplings and began planting them in his backyard.

As he planted the saplings, Ethen had an idea. He realized that he could sell the saplings to raise money for a children's hospital.

Ethen went to work right away. He planted hundreds of saplings in his backyard and began selling them to his neighbors and friends.

Ethen's sapling sale was a huge success. He raised over $10,000, which he donated to the children's hospital where Abbey was being treated.

Ethen's story is an inspiring example of how one person can make a difference. His sapling sale not only raised money for a good cause, but it also gave hope to Abbey and her family.

Abbey is now cancer-free, and she is grateful to Ethen for his help. She says that Ethen's sapling sale was a "miracle" that saved her life.

Ethen is proud of what he accomplished, but he says that he couldn't have done it without the support of his family and friends. He is thankful to everyone who helped him make a difference in the lives of children.

Ethen's story is a reminder that we all have the power to make a difference in the world. Even a small act of kindness can have a big impact.

If you are looking for a way to make a difference, consider donating to a children's hospital or volunteering your time. You can also help by spreading the word about Ethen's story and inspiring others to get involved.

Together, we can make a difference in the lives of children everywhere.

Here are some ways you can help:

* Donate to a children's hospital. * Volunteer your time at a children's hospital. * Spread the word about Ethen's story. * Inspire others to get involved.
