

Who Cross You? It's Really Not a Game

Crossing the road is a serious matter, and it's not a game. Pedestrians need to be aware of their surroundings and take precautions to stay safe. Drivers need to be aware of pedestrians and yield to them when necessary. By following these tips, we can all help to make our roads safer for everyone.

Hypnotizing Game: Who Cross You (It's Really Not a Game) by John Mark Sibley-Jones

★★★★☆ 4.4 out of 5

Language	: English
File size	: 954 KB
Text-to-Speech	: Enabled
Screen Reader	: Supported
Enhanced typesetting	: Enabled
Word Wise	: Enabled
Print length	: 328 pages
Lending	: Enabled

Pedestrian Safety

As a pedestrian, there are a few things you can do to stay safe when crossing the road:

- Be aware of your surroundings. This means paying attention to traffic and pedestrians around you. Don't be distracted by your phone or other devices.

- Cross at designated crosswalks. These are the safest places to cross the road because they have traffic signals or stop signs that give pedestrians the right of way.
- Look both ways before crossing the road. This is especially important at intersections. Make sure there are no cars coming from either direction before you step into the road.
- Don't jaywalk. Jaywalking is crossing the road outside of a designated crosswalk. It's illegal and dangerous, so don't do it.
- Be visible to drivers. Wear bright or reflective clothing, especially at night. Make eye contact with drivers to let them know you're there.
- Never assume drivers see you. Even if you're in a crosswalk, it's important to make sure drivers have seen you before you step into the road.

Driver Safety

As a driver, there are also a few things you can do to help keep pedestrians safe:

- Be aware of pedestrians. This means paying attention to pedestrians around you, especially when you're driving in areas with a lot of foot traffic.
- Yield to pedestrians. Pedestrians have the right of way at crosswalks, so always come to a complete stop before crossing the road.
- Never pass a stopped school bus. School buses have flashing lights and stop signs to alert drivers that children are crossing the road.

- Slow down in school zones and residential areas. These areas are where children are most likely to be crossing the road.
- Never drive under the influence of alcohol or drugs. Alcohol and drugs impair your judgement and reaction time, which can make it difficult to avoid pedestrians.

By following these tips, we can all help to make our roads safer for everyone. Pedestrians need to be aware of their surroundings and take precautions to stay safe. Drivers need to be aware of pedestrians and yield to them when necessary. By working together, we can create a safer environment for everyone who uses our roads.

In addition to the tips provided above, here are some additional resources that you may find helpful:

- The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) has a website dedicated to pedestrian safety: <https://www.nhtsa.gov/road-safety/pedestrian-safety>
- The National Center for Safe Routes to School has a website with resources for parents, schools, and communities: <https://www.saferoutestoschool.org/>

Hypnotizing Game: Who Cross You (It's Really Not A Game) by John Mark Sibley-Jones

★★★★☆ 4.4 out of 5

Language : English
 File size : 954 KB
 Text-to-Speech : Enabled
 Screen Reader : Supported
 Enhanced typesetting : Enabled
 Word Wise : Enabled

Print length : 328 pages
Lending : Enabled

French Pieces for Flute and Piano: A Journey into Enchanting Melodies

The world of classical music is adorned with countless gems, and among them, the exquisite repertoire of French pieces for flute and piano stands...

The Big Clarinet Songbook: A Musical Treasure for Aspiring Musicians

The clarinet, with its rich and evocative sound, has captured the hearts of music lovers worldwide. For aspiring clarinet players, honing their skills and...